About Engineering Entrance Exams

In order to gain admission to IITs, the student needs to write an exam called JEE. This exam consists of two stages:

Stage1: JEE Main and Stage2: JEE Advanced. JEE Main is similar to the earlier AIEEE exam & JEE Advanced is similar to the earlier IIT-JEE.

Admission to IITs are done solely on the basis of the rank in JEE Advanced. JEE Main, XII Board marks and rank do not influence the admissions but are only used as an eligibility criteria. In XII Board, the students are expected to score 75% aggregate or be in the top 20 percentile of the board.

Admission for NITs, IIITs and State Engineering colleges is expected to be purely on the basis of JEE Main performance. As in the case of IITs, XII Board does not influence the admissions but is only used as an eligibility criteria, which differs from college to college.

As per the recent developments, State Entrance Exams like MHT-CET are likely to be called off and admissions to state colleges will be through JEE Main only. Similarly Private College Entrance exams like BITSAT are also likely to be called off and their admissions again may be done through the JEE Main Exam.
